Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Dear DOJ,

With billions of dollars at its disposal, a fine would be insignificant to Microsoft (although highly recommended). Any settlement which includes the distribution of Microsoft products would just worsen their monopoly. Please open up the arena to allow other vendors software programs (applications and operating system utilities, including Web browsers) to be substituted for Microsoft products and force Microsoft to unbundle their software to permit equal access. This would allow fair competition in the marketplace and benefit all consumers.

Thank you.
